

THE COCONINO SUN.

He is now fitting up a club room off the billiard room. The room will be handsomely fitted up and spacious enough to hold meetings and caucuses in, and it will be a convenience to the public as well as to the guests of the house.

Capt. Hinkley kindly showed the SUN reporter the plans of the proposed water works system from Fort Valley. The plans are comprehensive and the proposition of Messrs. Goodhue, Hinkley and Gosney should receive the full consideration of the council. The cost of determining the supply of water in that locality is comparatively small, and the council should give these gentlemen a chance to demonstrate their proposition.

M. Lander, who lives at Mormon Lake, was in town this week and told of the loss of his residence at that place. Last fall Mr. Landers, with his family, moved to Verde valley, where they spent the winter. On his return to Mormon Dairy last week, where he expected to find a comfortable home, he found a heap of ashes. During his absence some one had, either through carelessness or wantonness, burned his dwelling. Mr. Landers lost about all of his clothing and household goods, and many of his farming implements, besides several hundred pounds of cured meats which was stored in the house.

Church Notice.

Next Sunday evening Rev. Corser at the Presbyterian church will begin a course of lectures on the prophets. The subjects of the lectures will be as follows: "The Pioneer Prophet Samuel," "The Image Breaker Prophet Elijah," "The Conservative Prophet Elisha," "The Prophet of Righteousness Isaiah"

The prophets and not the law givers were the founders of the Jewish religion, and therefore a study of the prophets must be useful and helpful.

The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning will be "The Place of the Church and the Bible in Religion." All are cordially invited.

H. P. CORSER, Pastor.

Company "I" Picket Line.

Now that the war fever is at a heat military things and doings have become the object of much attention. The parade ground beside the armory has been cleared and lighted, and at every drill of company "I" the boys have many spectators and quite a few are ladies. Our boys have been drilling very hard since the war clouds have gathered and if sent to the front they will be one of the best companies representing Arizona. The general sentiment is for war.

Friday night the boys will take a rest from drill and trip the merry fantastic at the opera house. The committee in charge promises a good time and since company "I" has become so popular, a good attendance of Flagstaff's dancing set is assured. The company now has on its roll the most representative young men of this locality, and as a good spirit is manifest, the boys are working hard to make this the banner company of the First Regiment. An encampment of the National Guards is being talked of this summer, and as our surroundings are an ideal for such a thing our city council should take steps to try and secure this affair.

The girls all say our general, Tom Flynn makes the nicest soldier in the whole company. Oh, Gee!

Dave Raudebaugh is reported as having worn a white vest to drill one evening. The boys want him court-martialed and shot.

Corporal Hugh Bunch is reputed as being the best drilled man among the non-commissioned officers. Good for Hugh.
